We believe that being an effective partner with our clients involves understanding and sharing a deep commitment to the communities where we do business. This commitment should be measured not only in our firm’s financial contributions, but also in the personal gifts of time, energy and passion that our employees make everyday. We are extremely proud of what we have done to embrace our communities this past year.

In 2005, employees volunteered countless hours with diverse organizations across our national footprint. These hours were augmented by the generous contributions made by employees, and matched by the firm through the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation’s Employee Gift Matching and Volunteer Grant programs.

Empowering our employees to give is just part of RBC Dain Rauscher’s total commitment. Through the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation and through corporate sponsorships, our firm contributed more than $3.3 million to community-focused organizations and events across the country.

In the pages that follow, you’ll see evidence of the passion and commitment our firm and, more significantly, our employees demonstrated in 2005. I thank you for the opportunity to continue to make our communities better places for all of us.

John G. Taft
President and CEO

The Human Touch Through Community Involvement Programs

RBC Dain Rauscher has a strong history of corporate philanthropy, and is a founding member of the Minnesota Keystone Program, which recognizes companies that donate at least two percent of pre-tax earnings to the community. By contributing to programs that build a vibrant culture, help those in need and develop well-rounded youth, we are investing in a better future.

In 2005, RBC Dain Rauscher gave more than $3.3 million to charitable organizations through the following programs that promote employee involvement and recognize employee efforts to improve our local communities.

RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation

The RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation concentrates its giving in communities where we have a business presence in order to better serve the areas where our clients and employees live and work. In 2005, the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation awarded 1,700 grants totaling more than $2.1 million.

Employee Giving and Volunteerism

When it comes to enriching our communities, we know that the human touch makes the real difference. Our employees are encouraged to volunteer with organizations where they can share their financial knowledge and personal passions.

In addition, Employee Gift Matching and Volunteer Grant Programs are funded by the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation to recognize the organizations that our employees support. In 2005, the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation matched employee charitable donations totaling over $410,000 and made contributions of $49,500 to organizations where employees volunteered.

Sponsorships

Sponsorships offer unique opportunities to cultivate mutually beneficial relationships with clients, prospects and non-profit organizations in the communities where we do business. In 2005, RBC Dain Rauscher supported over 45 major sponsorships with contributions of $1.1 million benefiting charitable organizations.

Total 2005 Charitable Contributions
$3.3 Million

The RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation is guided by the mission of improving the quality of life in our communities by supporting non-profit organizations that make a positive difference. For maximum impact, we have committed to three focus areas that play key roles in strengthening the communities where we do business: Arts & Culture, Human Services and Youth Education. The following highlights show how foundation grants and employee involvement impact local communities.

HOLA Helps At-Risk Youth Stay Focused on Academics

More than 1,300 boys and girls benefit from Heart of Los Angeles Youth (HOLA) programs. HOLA's mission is to empower inner-city youth to advance their lives and revitalize their communities through academic enrichment, personal development and leadership programs. Rod Carter, Los Angeles investment banker, is committed to HOLA's success as a board member, finance committee member, and in various fundraising capacities. He says the human touch is felt by children who may be in danger of slipping through society's cracks.

"Heart of Los Angeles Youth is an organization that is dear to me, and is truly a great help to our inner-city youth," Carter says. "I support HOLA because of their selflessness and relentless pursuit of giving economically disadvantaged children a fighting chance."

Mentors Educate and Motivate Aspiring Students

As vice president of development and outreach for Erie Neighborhood House, an organization serving Chicago's low-income, immigrant families, and as an active member of its board of directors for almost 25 years, Chicago financial consultant Charles O'Kieffe understands the obstacles at-risk students face.

The Erie Neighborhood House's Tutoring to Educate Aims and Motivation (TEAM) program was established in 1984 to provide a positive response to low-educational performance among the low-income youth of greater West Town in Chicago. In weekly one-on-one sessions, adult mentors work with high school students to improve academic achievement and educate participants in life skills and life choices. TEAM mentors provide youth the support and access to resources necessary to achieve academic success.

"I strongly believe that the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation is making a sound investment in our future by supporting the TEAM mentoring program at Erie Neighborhood House," O'Kieffe says.

Supporting Arts Programs Essential for Academic Success

Because of RBC Dain Rauscher's long-standing partnership with Anwatin Middle School in Minneapolis, the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation funded an extended residency program at Anwatin through a grant to Young Audiences of Minnesota.

"The arts are a powerful tool for learning," says Tia Simons, executive director of Young Audiences of Minnesota. "When schools lack the resources to provide high caliber arts programming, Young Audiences partners with schools to provide unique, low-cost arts learning experiences for K-12 students."

With RBC Dain Rauscher's funding, poet Kelechi Jaavid brought his residency, The Art of Life: Looking Through Your Mirror of Poetry, to Anwatin. The students worked closely with Jaavid and English teacher Sarah Wernimont, and were introduced to a variety of poetry styles, including examples from African-American poets. After composing their own poems, students performed them in a café-style poetry reading.

Anwatin principal Beth Russell says the human touch was felt by 140 seventh-graders who were grateful for the experience.

Kids First Center Eases Trauma of Divorce for Children

RBC Dain Rauscher financial consultant Bucky Johnson is in his third year as president of the board of directors at Kids First Center, which addresses the emotional and sometimes physical trauma children experience during and after the separation or divorce of their parents.

Johnson says many in the Portland, Maine, area have felt the human touch. Since the Kids First Center opened its doors in 1998, it has served approximately 3,500 children and parents per year.

Throughout the year, employees from across the country gave generously to a wide range of worthy charities through both individual and group efforts.

The following highlights show how employee involvement makes a difference in local communities.

Personal Attention Helps Struggling Students

Through the Invest In Youth program, financial consultant Scott Hill and other Seattle employees serve as tutors, giving personal attention to grade school students. Invest In Youth addresses the needs of students who have been identified as under-performers or who lack consistent, individual adult attention. Focusing on homework and related academic skills, tutors stress organization and accountability while expressing encouragement and compassion to the students. The RBC Dain Rauscher employees involved in this program recognize that even one hour each week can greatly improve the academic ability of a struggling student.

One Individual Makes a Big Difference

Over the last 19 years, senior associate Brian Leet has volunteered over 4,500 hours with a broad range of charities serving families and children in need. In the past 12 months, he coordinated 50 Fare Share volunteers, collected 6,500 pounds of food for area food shelves, and sponsored two families in need by providing groceries and holiday gifts. In addition to mentoring students and coaching youth athletics, Brian provides teddy bears to hospitalized children through his self-administered “Brian’s Little Buddies” program.

Food Drive Supports Senior Citizens’ Food Shelf

With rising health care costs, utility bills and housing expenses, many low-income senior citizens must choose between buying medications or food. Through RBC Dain Rauscher’s participation in the Minnesota FoodShare campaign each March, we support the Seniors’ Place Food Shelf, the only food shelf in Hennepin County specifically serving seniors. More than 500 low-income senior citizens depend on Seniors’ Place for groceries, and our contributions help sustain this program all year.

Backpack Drive Prepares Students for Back to School

Every year, students anticipate returning to school in the fall, and every year, some are not prepared because they lack the supplies necessary for academic success. That’s why RBC Dain Rauscher employee volunteers purchase and assemble hundreds of backpacks filled with essential school supplies and deliver them to organizations serving at-risk kids in the Twin Cities.

Adopt-a-Family Program Brightens Holidays

RBC Dain Rauscher employees have volunteered at St. Anne’s Place and Ascension Place for more than 10 years. These sister organizations support women in crisis by providing a stable environment and the opportunity to explore options for their futures. Together, the two shelters serve almost 300 women and their dependent children annually. During the holidays, the Adopt-a-Family program matches families with employee volunteers who adopt the family, then purchase and wrap gifts on the family’s wish list.

U.S. Debt Markets Rallies to Aid Students After Hurricane

When the Louisiana Department of Education asked for help providing basic classroom supplies for school districts absorbing the 135,000 students displaced by Hurricane Katrina, U.S. Debt Markets employees from all over the country pulled together to help, donating several thousand items from the list of most-needed school supplies. They also included some extra contributions to make the students’ transition easier and more enjoyable. Overall, our employees’ generosity exceeded the target goal set by the Louisiana Department of Education.

Chicago, IL	Theresa Brandys, Office Manager, Voyageur Asset Management Theresa has served two days every month as a volunteer docent educator at the Brookfield Zoo for 19 years, and has given more than 100 hours of her time annually to the Zoo’s educational outreach program for nine years. In 2004, she started SOS America, a non-profit effort that provides weekly letters and monthly packages to U.S. troops in Iraq and Afghanistan who are not receiving any mail. In 2005, she spent more than 200 hours writing letters and hand-crocheting Christmas stockings for the troops.
Walnut Creek, CA	Christy Perimon, Senior Client Associate To support The Hurricane Katrina Flashlight Drive, Christy coordinated all the logistical details to promote and manage a flashlight drive in her office building. With $450 and 250 flashlights donated by RBC Dain Rauscher employees and other businesses, Christy’s flashlights were part of six semi-trailers of food and supplies that were delivered to survivors of the hurricane.
Des Moines, IA	Dana Weir, Branch Service Manager Dana spends every Monday evening volunteering for the Cornerstone Recovery Program at Children & Families of Iowa. In 2005, she received the Above and Beyond Service Recognition award, presented by Iowa’s Governor, for her involvement in child advocacy work. In addition to her Employee Volunteer Grant, Dana designates her annual United Way contribution to Cornerstone Recovery, and she helps coordinate branch charitable functions.

Vernon Hills, IL	Robert Petrie, Financial Consultant Robert serves on seven committees and is actively involved in three annual fundraising activities for the Jennifer S. Fallick Cancer Support Center, which provides free resources to help people improve their quality of life during the cancer experience. In 2005, Robert volunteered more than 200 hours handling some of the 13,000 calls and visits the Center received. His fiscal responsibility and leadership as past president and chairman of the board of directors has helped protect the financial stability of this program.
Washington, D.C.	Warren Bischoff, Complex Director Warren spends at least one night a week and many weekends supporting Super Leaders, an organization dedicated to helping at-risk high school students gain educational, personal and social skills to avoid a life of crime. Houston, TX	Darryl Traweek, Regional Director, South Les Fox and Lew Brazelton, Financial Consultants Darryl, Les, Lew and others at the branch have helped raise more than $520,000 over the last three years for Texas Children’s Hospital Newborn Center® through sponsorship of the annual Bad Pants Open golf tournament. Billings, MT

Jeffrey R. Peete, Financial Consultant

Jeff plans, promotes and runs the branch Charity of Choice golf tournament and barbecue, and he plays a lead role in the branch's annual Wild Game Feast. He regularly participates in the United Way Day of Caring and volunteers for other office charity events. He is also a very active Shriner, volunteering many hours each year to raise money to support the Shriner Children's Hospital.

Minnetonka, MN

Leo Collins, Financial Consultant

In 2005, Leo volunteered more than 150 hours with Interfaith Outreach and Community Partners (IOCP), an organization that identifies and responds to unmet needs in the community. Three years ago, he founded and organized a golf fundraiser that raised more than $19,000 for the IOCP last year. In addition to supporting other organizations, Leo coordinates the branch "adopt-a-family" holiday efforts and serves as the branch representative for the local chamber of commerce.

Brookfield, WI

Dave Morris, Financial Consultant

Dave volunteers 12 hours a month as chair of the investment committee for Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer, overseeing the management of a $6.6 million endowment fund. Annually, he helps the organization raise $1.5 million and he gives one week of his time each summer to manage the tennis program at a camp for children fighting various childhood cancers. He is also an active church volunteer, providing bereavement lay ministry and helping manage its finances.

Sponsorships play an important role in encouraging employee involvement and enriching local cultures. RBC Dain Rauscher's sponsorships span across the country in order to make an impact in all of the regions where we do business.

Bay Area Fine Arts Enriched

Building on our prior sponsorship of the Art Deco exhibit at the Legion of Honor, RBC Dain Rauscher continued its affiliation with the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco (FAMSF) by sponsoring the grand re-opening of the de Young Museum. The de Young is a state-of-the-art museum integrating art, architecture and its natural landscape in one multi-faceted facility.

Fran Roche, RBC Dain Rauscher's director of Corporate Venture Services values this world-class institution saying, "Building positive relationships with kids, adults and clients is gratifying for everyone in the San Francisco area."

Anne-Marie Bonfilio, director of FAMSF corporate relations agrees, saying, "We could not provide for the arts the way we are without the support of RBC Dain Rauscher."

Spreading Support to 40 Community Arts Organizations

In 2005, RBC Dain Rauscher was a lead sponsor of TACA, an organization that's mission is to increase participation and awareness of the performing arts in North Texas. Through its partnership with TACA, RBC Dain Rauscher provided funding for local art galleries, theater companies, operas, symphonies and various other community arts organizations. The sponsorship exposed the Dallas metropolitan area to many arts appreciation and outreach opportunities.

Maximizing Community Involvement Programs

Employees in Leawood, Kansas, used the Charity of Choice concept to create a branch team-building opportunity and to make a difference for the Deanna Rose Children's Farmstead. By combining community involvement programs, the Leawood branch was able to complement their gifts of time and money with a Foundation grant, employee gift matching, and a charitable sponsorship.

The Deanna Rose Children's Farmstead is a popular, admission-free regional family attraction that benefited greatly from the pooled contributions of RBC Dain Rauscher and its employees. Using the Charity of Choice concept, the Leawood branch was able to surpass its original fundraising goal and strengthen its reputation as a supportive community partner.

In addition to supporting local efforts, RBC Dain Rauscher drives major initiatives, making significant contributions across the country.

Corporate Art Collection Hits the Road

The Human Touch: A Touring Exhibit from RBC Dain Rauscher’s Art Collection

In 2005, The Human Touch art tour launched in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, displaying a representative selection of RBC Dain Rauscher’s corporate art collection. Reflecting the modern society we live in, the diverse art collection has grown to include over 400 pieces. Championed by RBC Dain Rauscher Chairman and former CEO, Irv Weiser, The Human Touch touring exhibit will visit at least three additional cities in 2006.

Weiser was responsible for initiating the corporate art collection, and he has played a central role in the selection process for each piece. Weiser says the RBC Dain Rauscher art collection serves an important business purpose as well as an aesthetic one.

Girls Take a Shot at College Scholarship

Teen girls from Denver area public and private schools, golf academies and local organizations participated in the Shot at College event sponsored by RBC Dain Rauscher. Overall, 125 girls and their parents enjoyed a memorable June day at Cherry Hills Country Club taking part in a golf clinic led by 2003 U.S. Women’s Open champion Hilary Lunke. During the day the girls practiced their golf skills and competed for a finalist slot in the Shot at College competition.

The winner, 13 year-old Addie Godfrey, was awarded a $2,500 scholarship that was matched by the RBC Dain Rauscher Colorado Scholarship Fund of the Denver Foundation. To maintain her amateur status, Addie chose not to accept the prize, and instead designated her school and Hurricane Katrina relief aid as beneficiaries of the prize money.

Pops in the Park

On October 29, approximately 18,000 people enjoyed an evening of fresh air, music and fireworks at the beautiful Vinoy Park in St. Petersburg, courtesy of RBC Dain Rauscher. According to Don Keel, The Florida Orchestra director of development, Pops in the Park is an old-fashioned community event and an experience for the senses.

The evening was one of The Florida Orchestra’s Pops in the Park series of nine free outdoor concerts in the Tampa Bay metro area sponsored by RBC Dain Rauscher.

In addition to offering family-friendly entertainment, the concert included unique ways for RBC Dain Rauscher to make a lasting contribution to the community well after the event.

First, RBC Dain Rauscher contributed $5,000 to match the 5,000 pounds of canned goods donated to the Tampa Bay Harvest Food Shelf by Pops in the Park attendees.

Then, in conjunction with its launch of Money Savvy Kids, RBC Dain Rauscher handed out fun, hands-on activity banks to help children learn important financial skills, including the basics of saving, spending and sharing money.

Finally, children who received the Money Savvy Kids educational materials were entered into a drawing for one of three college scholarships awarded by the firm. The following students won scholarships: Lauren Librizzi of Bradenton won a $3,000 scholarship, Sinclair Feldman of Tarpon Springs won a $1,000 scholarship and, Jaimie Berman of Largo won a $1,000 scholarship.

Financial consultant Clark Mason, says the RBC Dain Rauscher sponsorship of The Florida Orchestra and Pops in the Park is a practical community investment because many people in the Tampa Bay metro area value our support of arts and culture programs.

“People appreciate our involvement in the local arts and they understand that we care about our community, especially with the scholarship,” Mason says. “It helps people know who we are outside the business relationship by demonstrating that family and community are as important to us as the business we do here.”

“Gary’s commitment to the community is without limits, and his generosity is complemented by the grant and gift-matching programs that RBC Dain Rauscher has to offer.”
 – Chuck Evans, San Jose branch director

About the Dick McFarland Volunteer of the Year Award

Each year, the Dick McFarland Volunteer of the Year Award is given to one RBC Dain Rauscher employee who best exemplifies the company’s philosophy of giving back to the community. The award is named for former chairman, president and CEO, Dick McFarland, who began his career with our company in 1953 as a financial consultant. Over the years, he set the standard of community service that serves as a model for all RBC Dain Rauscher employees today.

Gary Sargenti, Financial Consultant
 San Jose, CA

For his ongoing advocacy of the homeless through his work with InnVision, and for his tireless support of other community service organizations, Gary Sargenti was named the 2005 winner of the Dick McFarland Volunteer of the Year Award. Sargenti’s work has been a success no matter how you measure it.

InnVision is a national leader at combating homelessness on the local level. Under Sargenti’s leadership, its model has become so effective that it is being adopted by other non-profit organizations serving the homeless population. As its chairman of the board of trustees, Sargenti oversees an annual budget in excess of $10 million and a trust with assets of more than $21 million.

“We deliver 94 cents out of every dollar directly to our programs,” Sargenti says. “We provided services for over 20,000 individuals, families and veterans in 2005.”

To maximize the positive impact Gary personally has on this organization, he uses the Employee Gift-Matching and Volunteer Grant Programs to further support InnVision. He also helped them attain a grant from the RBC Dain Rauscher Foundation.

In 2005, Gary served as chair of RotaCare South Bay through his Rotary club. He played a key role in reopening its free clinic, delivering much needed medical services to more than 750 people each week. Sargenti was also involved in his third annual American Blind and Disabled Golf Association fundraiser tournament.

Sargenti says if you identify a cause you find meaningful, it will show you that you have a capacity for volunteering that may surprise you. And he believes the rewards are well worth it.

“When I’ve gone to the office at 6:30 in the morning and roll into home after my last meeting at 10:30 in the evening, I rationalize that my persistence will allow one more bed to be filled,” Sargenti says. “I’d like to think that when the next abused woman or mother benefits from our shelter, with her children fed and housed, I might have had something to do with it.”

“I feel fortunate to work for a company where leaders actively listen to the concerns of minority voices and where employees are empowered to make a difference.”

– Kimberley Washington, product marketing consultant

About the Irv Weiser Diversity Award

RBC Dain Rauscher established the Irv Weiser Diversity Award in 2004 to recognize and reward individuals who exhibit the company’s commitment to diversity. The award is named in honor of the chairman of the board and former CEO, Irv Weiser, because of his passion for diversity. All employees of RBC Dain Rauscher are eligible to be nominated. The annual winner is selected based on his or her demonstrated ability to: value the differences among people; understand and communicate the business imperatives for leveraging diversity; demonstrate cultural sensitivity; help diverse teams work together effectively; and work for positive change.

Kimberley Washington, Product Marketing Consultant Minneapolis, MN

For her long, steadfast support of diversity, Kimberley Washington is the recipient of the 2005 Irv Weiser Diversity Award.

Although being outspoken about diversity in the workplace in 1994 could have been risky for her career, Kimberley believed the cause was important enough to become one of the founding members of the Minority Employee Association (MEA), RBC Dain Rauscher’s first employee resource group. Kimberley continues to serve the 128-member MEA as chair of the marketing committee, and she invests countless evening and weekend hours developing marketing strategies and communications materials to help educate current and prospective employees and clients about diversity at RBC Dain Rauscher.

Kimberley is also actively involved with planning and implementing diversity-oriented events at RBC Dain Rauscher, ranging from The Human Touch touring corporate art exhibit, to attending national recruiting conventions, to volunteering at many company-sponsored diversity events. And, we all feel Kimberley’s human touch when it comes to diversity: she teaches by example as a lever for action, she is a catalyst for awareness, and she is an advocate for appreciation.

“I think being presented with the Irv Weiser Diversity Award reflects the values and culture we enjoy at RBC Dain Rauscher,” Washington says, “I feel fortunate to work for a company where leaders actively listen to the concerns of minority voices and where employees are empowered to make a difference. True diversity will not be achieved without the acceptance and support of the whole organization.”
